

I strongly object to mandated copy protection schemes on HDTV receivers. To implement this is to limit consumer use of a broadcast in an unnecessary manner: for instance, using standard TV, I can record a news broadcast for later viewing. Under HDTV copy protection, this kind of use would be eliminated or otherwise unreasonably restricted.